SWAT unit and HRT platoon

Everywhere in the world the potential for violence and public disorder resulting from its nature and the population that is in them. Police in charge of civil peace and maintaining law and should be able to take care needs and most of the events and disturbances that arise from time to time.

In cases where exceptional events occur without special training and appropriate measures units have problems to deal with the challenges, the result may lead to excessive use of force that can cause casualties among civilians or inability to overcome the incident. That might be harmful to the lives of citizens and police officers.

SWAT unit and HRT platoon

In order to avoid problematic situations organizations have special units who were trained and equipped to handle these exceptional cases. In the daily routine the units are engaged in activities aimed at activities, training and development to maintain operational capability. The development of this capability is what can make the difference between success and restore order in place without casualties and total disaster with many casualties and deaths.

To develop such capacity its needed to train operators and bring them to the required level.

The program presented lists required to establish this capability through:

1. Training commanders and instructors in the first stage - the period of 3 weeks.
